

Encompass

An easy way to see and understand how people, companies and addresses are associated with each other

WHAT IS ENCOMPASS?

Encompass is an interactive, visual tool that enables better, faster commercial decisions. Encompass not only automates corporate, property and person search, it also enables easy review and management of commercial information from official and validated sources such as the ASIC registers, the PPS Register and various land title registers. Users get a single, verified view of the parties they and their clients wish do business with.

WHO USES ENCOMPASS?

Encompass is a technology solution that is popular among advisers, consultants, analysts and researchers in a range of industries, including finance, legal, insolvency and others who provide professional services. Every time a business engages in commerce, and every time a transaction is entered into, commercial decisions have to be made. Decision makers and their teams need to be fully informed about the parties they do business with, and they use Encompass to instantly understand key information about people, companies, property and assets to make better, faster commercial decisions.

WHY IS IT BENEFICIAL?

Get the full picture, fast. Encompass automatically collects key commercial information from multiple registries. It helps you instantly find and connect critical people, companies, property, assets and dates. With Encompass, you can interact with a visual chart and drill down from the big picture to the fine details. Uniquely, the Encompass workspace not only can be shared, but it is also a platform for collaboration – you can save any changes made to the chart, and store it in a document archive that is easy to access and auditable.
