i2i Gap Analysis

What happens when Standards change in your organization?

Ensuring products and processes remain compliant when a Standard changes is often a challenge for organizations. SAI Global is creating an online tool to help manage the risk of changing Standards and regulatory information. Our gap analysis software that supports International, National and local documents can be used to initiate internal policy change and maintain information integrity.

The i2i Gap Analysis tool helps risk rate changing information, identify compliance tasks or actions and link the updated information to internal products and processes. Monitor future changing Standards through the horizon scanning feature and the resource intelligence tool keeps you connected to industry and expert news that will help you make informed risk decisions.

The i2i Gap Analysis supports organizations managing the process of changing Standards by setting risks as defined actions and evaluating the risk reduction process undertaken.

As an online SaaS (software as a service) the tool provides a flexible and secure environment to monitor change impacts and highlight evidence that, following completion of the tasks, the identified risk has been reduced to an acceptable level.
